10M23 Auto Sales

Slight MoM growth in October

Domestic 2W sales rose +1.2% MoM in Oct-23, which brought the cumulative 10M23 figure to 5.2 million units (+26.2% YoY), in line with our estimate (87.3% of SSI's FY23F projection). 4W sales also saw slight growth in Oct-23 (+0.4% MoM), with a cumulative 10M23 figure of 836,048 units (-1.8% YoY), also in line with our estimate (83.6% of SSI's FY23F projection). ASII retained its seat as market leader once again in both 4W (55.4%, especially with Toyota and Daihatsu) and 2W (>70% with Honda). We maintain our domestic FY23F 4W and 2W sales targets at 1 million units and 6 million units, respectively. However, we might see some decline in sales in the future, mainly due to rising interest rates (~80% of auto sales in Indonesia are done with auto loans).

xEV contributes 6.3% of domestic 4W sales

Domestic BEV sales were much better than last year, coming in at 12,286 units in 10M23 (10M22: 5,958 units), with the Hyundai Ioniq5 as the best-selling model (51.5% of 4W EV sales), followed by the Wuling Air EV (32.6%). However, BEV sales were still considered insignificant since they only contributed 1.5% of domestic 4W sales (SSI's FY23F projection: <3%). HEV (hybrid) sales also recorded significant growth, reaching 40,555 units (4.9% of domestic 4W sales, 10M22: 1,982 units), with the Toyota Innova Zenix as the market leader (53.0% of 4W Hybrid sales) followed by the Toyota New Yaris Cross (11.7%). Given the public's warm reception toward 4W HEV, we project 4W HEV sales to contribute ~5% of domestic 4W sales in FY23F.

Top Pick: DRMA

We maintain DRMA as our top pick with a TP of IDR 1,900 thanks to several positive catalysts, including (1) consolidation of PT Trimitra Chitrahasta's (TCH) numbers into DRMA's books (TCH's FY23F revenue target: IDR 700 billion, ~18% of DRMA's FY22 revenue), (2) its new 4W factory, which will produce suspension members for the Toyota New Yaris Cross, and (3) EV-related initiatives, including component localization (one of which is battery pack) and charging stations. To note, DRMA booked solid numbers in 9M23, with revenue and net profit growth of +59.7% YoY (to IDR 4.2 trillion) and +107.8% YoY (to IDR 519 billion), though the net profit figure includes the one-off gain from negative goodwill from the acquisition of TCH (IDR 56 billion) carried out in Jan-23; even without the one-off gain, DRMA would still book massive net profit growth (+85.4% YoY).
